Our Commitment

Part of our commitment to the communities that have allowed us to enter the sustainable agriculture market over the past 20 years and work hand in hand; is to improve the socio-economic environment and correspond in the best way with it our reach - primarily in educational and health care services. This makes it possible to link the food that Canadians consume providing necessary improvements to the quality of life all these community and social groups making our top quality nutrient rich produce.

The Women's Advocacy Alliance has been formed for the resettlement and enrichment of women that have been displaced by war and other hardships, giving them an opportunity to thrive and enriching Mexico's and Nova Scotia's culture at the same time.

Our Health Beyond Borders Foundation began with the donation of a medical clinic in a part of Michoacán, Mexico that has been vulnerable to drug war violence and traditionally rich in agriculture. The economic reactivation is occurring in the fields, where we have access to over 15,000 acres of fertile land. Our first steps is selling containers of produce ready for harvest. The next phase for supporting the foundation economically is to put the farmers back to work and plant those 15,000 acres. The health, education and sports intervention in our community economic development program will affect thousands of families.

Sapid Fresh Foods & Products can source majority of products offered for export from Mexico.
